

A Legacy of Public Service

In less than 10 years, the MAAC has grown from a single building into a 30-acre, fully-comprehensive first responder training campus. With over 40 buildings, structures, and specialized training areas, the MAAC serves more than 100 unique departments, including firefighters, police officers, and EMTs, at no cost to them or their agencies. Because of supporters like you, we have hosted over 110K responders at our state-of-the-art facility, offering training spaces they can't find anywhere else.

The MAAC First Responders Training Campus

Founded in 2016 by the McMillan Family Foundation, in partnership with the Indiana District 1 Firefighter Training Council, the Multi Agency Academic Cooperative (MAAC) Foundation was established to better serve first responders across our region. Named for Clyde "Mack" McMillan, father of MAAC founder Stewart McMillan, the MAAC Foundation honors the former fire chief and founder of Task Force Tips.

The MAAC proudly hosts the District 1 Career Fire Academy and Volunteer Fire Academy, an EMT Academy in partnership with Northwest Health, and the Fire & Rescue program in collaboration with the Porter County Career and Technical Center; supporting both today's responders and the next generation of public safety professionals.

Supporting the MAAC mission is one of the easiest causes for us to partner with. Stewart's vision of providing world class training and facilities to first responders is remarkable, and one of the things that stands out for us, is to witness the creativity of our first responders in designing and building the facilities in the very way they need to train. The MAAC has become a community of people challenging themselves and training in real life scenarios to be excellent in their craft. This in turn makes our communities much more safe. We could not be more proud of what the MAAC has accomplished in a short period of time.

“As the Community Foundation for Lake County, Legacy Foundation serves 19 diverse towns and cities, with a total of over 50 different police, fire, and EMS units. Though we cannot contribute to each unit individually, supporting the MAAC allows us to make a significant impact on public safety throughout the entire county. Our first responders risk their lives daily, and they deserve access to the world-class training provided by the MAAC to help ensure their safety.”
